The mission of Compass is to support individuals in finding opportunities to live a meaningful and fulfilling life in the direction of their choice.

Compass hopes to assist individuals by adhering to our guiding principles:

1. Self-Determination

Compass believes that all people have a rightful place in society. People with developmental disabilities are at risk of being devalued and may need help to attain valued social roles and valued lives. Compass is committed to assisting individuals in developing and maintaining relationships, opportunities, and living arrangements which are fulfilling, meaningful, and of the individual's choice. 2. Community Integration and Inclusion

Compass will support individuals to become valued members of the communities in which they live. This includes attending public school, seeking employment at community businesses, shopping at local stores, using community recreation facilities, and receiving health services in the offices of community physicians, dentists, and clinics.

3. Meaningful Day

Compass is committed to providing learning opportunities throughout an individual's day. These opportunities may occur on a formal basis as part of a daily schedule, or on an informal basis by taking advantage of every opportunity to address the individual's needs.

4. Person-Centered Service Delivery

You will be encouraged to participate in the management and maintenance of your own finances and resources through formal and informal training opportunities. Compass is responsible for ensuring that if you rent property you secure and maintain renter's insurance. Purchases made will be for your use only, including food, personal necessities, and household items. If Compass is responsible for managing your finances, we will apply to become your Representative Payee for Social Security benefits. We will also open two accounts on your behalf with Old National Bank: one account for deposit of benefits and payment of bills, and one account for your spending money. The Compass Director of Finance and Financial Benefits Coordinators will have access to these accounts as well and will monitor the accounts online.

Participation in the Management of Financial Resources

Compass will ensure that you and/or legal representative will be given the opportunity to participate in the acquisition, maintenance and review of your finances. You will be given the opportunity to use your best judgment regarding financial decisions, however, in the event that these decisions jeopardize your health and welfare, the Compass Incident Reporting policy & procedure will be followed.

Compass will prepare a monthly budget for you based on your benefits and your expenses. Compass will ensure that the following expenses are paid for on your behalf each month from the Compass office:

- Rent
- Utilities
- Telephone
- Property Insurance
- Personal Necessities

Compass will budget a portion of your benefits money each month to make sure that you have enough money to pay for larger expenses such as bedroom furniture, new clothing, or other more expensive items.

When you are new to Compass, it may take several weeks for your benefits checks to begin coming in. Compass will make sure that all of your necessities are paid for while waiting for your benefits. If you want to purchase something outside of your necessities during this time, you can make a request in writing to your Program Director. The request will be reviewed and either approved or denied on an individual basis. Once your benefits begin, Compass will work with you to review a Repayment Agreement.

Also, when you are new to Compass, Compass will make sure that your home is furnished and includes everyday household items such as pots and pans, dishes, waste baskets, etc. These items will remain the property of Compass unless you decide that you would like to purchase them. If Compass purchases items for your use only such as bedroom furniture, you will be expected to pay for these items and they will become your personal property.

If you move into a brand new home, you will be responsible for paying deposits on housing and utilities as well as any set-up costs.

If you damage property or throw out belongings or food, you will be expected to pay for repairs and replacement.

If you earn money from a job, your benefits might not be enough to pay for all of your monthly expenses. If this is the case, you will be expected to help pay for regular monthly expenses such as rent, utilities, food and medicine with the money you earn at work. Money that you have left over after paying all of your necessities will be yours to spend or save, whichever you choose. If you earn money from a job and you owe money back to Compass, the Financial Benefits Coordinator will work with you on a Repayment Agreement. Once you have paid Compass back, the money you have left over will be yours to spend or save, whichever you choose.

MEDICAID HOME AND COMMUNITY BASED SERVICES (HCBS) WAIVERS

The Medicaid HCBS Waivers fund supportive services to individuals in their own homes or in community settings. The Medicaid waivers fund services to individuals who are at risk of institutionalization, meet the level of care specific to a waiver, and meet the financial limits established by the particular waiver. (For children under 18 years old, parental income is disregarded.) There are a limited number of slots for each waiver, so eligible individuals cannot receive services until there is a slot available for that individual.

An individual can be on the waiting list for any or all of the waivers, after meeting eligibility requirements; however, may receive services from only one waiver.

SOCIAL SECURITY ADMINISTRATION DISABILITY INSURANCE (SSDI)

Social Security Administration Disability Insurance (SSDI) provides a specified monthly benefit to individuals who meet eligibility requirements. An individual must have paid into the Social Security system for a minimum of 5 years (fewer years for individuals under 25) or be the widow/widower of an individual who has paid into the system. Children can receive SSDI benefits after the death or disability of a parent who paid into the Social Security system. The amount of the monthly benefit is based on the individual's, spouse's, or parent's past income.

To be eligible for SSDI payments, an individual must meet the criteria of "disability", e.g. have a physical or mental impairment, or a combination of impairments that are long-lasting in nature or expected to last for at least a year, and the condition prevents the individual from working. Individuals who are approved for SSDI will have periodic reviews of their condition of disability, in order to ascertain if the individual continues to be disabled.

To be eligible for SSI disability payments, an individual must meet the established eligibility criteria to be "disabled." For instance, the individual must have a physical or mental impairment, or a combination of impairments, that are long-lasting in nature or expected to last for at least a year, and the condition prevents the individual from working. The eligibility also includes an income limit that varies with the size of the family. The amount of the benefit is based on the individual's income and resources. Individuals who are approved for SSI disability will have periodic review of their conditions to ascertain if the individual continues to be disabled.

TRUST FUNDS

There are various types of trust funds, e.g. funds in a trust that has been established for the benefit of an individual. Families should consult a knowledgeable attorney or trust advisor when creating a trust. How a trust is established can determine whether or not trust funds count as a personal resource. Following is a brief description of trusts that may be established for an individual with a disability.

A trust is "available" to an individual with a disability if he or she has the unrestricted right, authority or legal ability to liquidate or dispose of trust property.

A trust is not "available" to the person with a disability if he or she does not have the unrestricted right, authority or legal ability to liquidate or dispose of the trust property.

"Special Needs Trusts" and "Pooled Trusts", if set up to meet specific guidelines under federal law, are not available to the person with a disability, and therefore would not count as a resource for means tested benefits such as SSI, the federal/state Medicaid program, or the state supported living program.

Information on Special Needs Trusts and Pooled Trusts is available from The Arc of Indiana at 1-800-382-9100 or via <http://www.arcind.org/>. This information is provided by The Arc Trust, which is sponsored by The Arc of the United States and The Arc of Indiana.
